2020-2021 Issue 5

Zones of Regulation: In advisory this year, we are making an effort to get our students to be able to name their emotions and develop strategies for coping. To do that, we have introduced our students to the zones of regulation. Students have been sharing with their teachers how they are feeling about not being on campus and how ready they are to learn. These regular check-ins have helped our teachers meet students where they are emotionally from day to day.

At home, you can support your student by discussing the emotional zones and your child can express those emotions in a positive way.

As we go through the year, we will offer students strategies for regulating their emotions to help them be successful in the classroom and beyond.

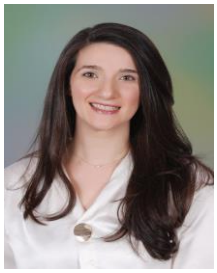

Art from a distance, students complete line art with Ms. Amina

Ms. Alisha has been mentoring and teaching high school and university students in the United States for more than a decade, including general education, college planning, and public and nonprofit leadership and management.

She holds degrees from Southern Oregon University and Portland State University.

Ms. Alisha

Ms. Diana

Ms. Diana moved to Kuwait in 2005 and since that time she has been in the educational field. For 14 years, she has taught all ages at various grade levels and served as a team leader. Ms. Diana received her Bachelor's Degree from Jordan University of Science and Technology. Throughout her years of teaching, she has firmly believed that each child is unique, therefore they learn and thrive at their own pace. She looks forward to continuing to have a positive impact on the students' growth.
