RACISM

Racism grew from the soils of arrogance; it grew so tall and clouded our eyes from common sense.

The only thing that racism brought to us was bloodshed that can cover cities in red of rage and blood, blue of sadness and confusion, black in injustice and vengeance.

People ask why was it happening? Why was it existing in a world where Hatred could cover the skies and make it as dark and terrifying as the void.

Racism exists because of the corrupted people that hide amongst our society, they wear a mask that make them blend in and whisper their seeds of corruption like a devil making a deal.

These people do not care to who they corrupt, from the young and old they will keep darkening their hearts, making them as hard and cold as rock.

To those who seek protection from the corrupted need to know there is no sanctuary, the only one that exists is the one within you.
You yourself as a capable human being can protect yourself from them by standing by your beliefs and rights that will protect you from their seeds of corruption.

If you wish to defeat them, you yourself cannot do it alone, to do so is like falling into a pit of darkness of no return, you will need an army of people who stand by their rights like you.

People who stand so strong by their rights they can create a wall that protects the innocent that are too fragile to know the truth.

Only then you can face them, face the people who grew the corruption all the way to the very core of our society and defeat them, so they can become no more and our future generations can live in peace, protection, and happiness.
