Why are you interested in this office? Being apart of BIS PTA has been my interest since my kids and I joined the school. I believe in BIS's strategy of teaching, and having the opportunity to work closely with the teachers of BIS can create the best school our children will learn in. Participating in BIS PTA and working along with the teachers and creating a strong system between the parents and the founders can have a tremendous effect on the school overall climate, which means the overall education experience that our children will take part of will be strong. I support and believe in building BIS's image as a school that believes in enhancing our children's' academic journey by allowing them to express their individual skills and talents and building their confidence based on that. I believe that parents play a huge role in strengthening this system, being involved in BIS allows me to be involved in making better solutions to help make positive changes. Finally, having this opportunity lets me become a role model to my children which truly confirms the importance I place on education.

What experiences/skills will you bring to this office? As a creatively driven individual, I find myself having an experience in using my artistic skills as a tool to bring something new to the table. My experience in drawing and painting illustrations, fashion sketching and hand crafting can be used as an opportunity to teach our kids that creativity is an important aspect in an individuals life and having an artistic vision is as serious as any other chosen pathway. Apart from having creative experience, I am also a Forensics Science Lab Practitioner which gives me the opportunity to show a different kind of skill that I'm happy to offer. My job as a lab practitioner involves utilizing my knowledge in Biochemistry as well as my investigative skills, which came from 12 years of experience, to analyze and manage tests and reports that are to be presented and used in Kuwait's Department of Forensics. I believe that the analytical skills I have gained in my forensics career allows me to provide different insights to coordinating and strategically planning the required events from the PTA. I truly appreciate being able to offer my experiences ranging from creative to scientific which allows me to participate in several different projects.

Desired Office: Vice-President

Why are you interested in this office? My goal in this office is to primarily to bridge the gap between the administrative body and student families. Enhancing these channels of communication while creating a supportive and interconnected environment for BIS's children allows each child to benefit from a cohesive and continuous environment. Collaboration and communication between the home and school allows our children to flourish in both environments, while supporting the parental and familial needs in the process. Through my potential role as the vice president in the PTA, I hope to be an influential presence to my children, who in the following year will both be attending the elementary level, and contribute significantly to the enhancement of their, and the collective student body's experience during these crucial developmental years.

What experiences/skills will you bring to this office? My position in the strategy management office at the reputable Dasman Diabetes Institute has allowed me to hone both my organizational and interpersonal skills. This, I feel, has highly equipped me to handle the challenges potentially faced as Vice President, coordinating between parents, administration, and predicting the needs of students. Furthermore, my adaptability in demanding situations and positive attitude allows me the ability to handle situations sensitively and efficiently.
